YOUR CHINA HOLIDAY WITH WENDY WU TOURS

China is home to amazing sights and wonders of the world. To explore the Forbidden City, walk on the Great Wall, sail the Yangtze River, see giant pandas or stand face-to-face with the Terracotta Warriors is the fulfilment of a lifelong dream. Yet, these fascinating experiences could be just the start of an amazing journey across one of the world's largest countries and beyond. Expect lands of contrast, unique and compelling landscapes, incredible history, heritage and culture – all quite unlike anything you might have imagined.

Your Wendy Wu Tours experience begins before you travel and we are there every step of the way until you return home. Our customers are our priority, and we will do all we can to ensure your holiday is one to remember.

This Travel Guide provides you with practical advice and cultural information to help you prepare for your holiday. We are aware that this can seem like a lot of reading material, but we ask that you take some time to familiarise yourself with this information prior to departure and refer to the contents within throughout your travels.

Your Tour Dossier (provided with your travel documents) provides a comprehensive description of almost everything to expect in each day's sightseeing for your itinerary. If there are any particular challenges, from the length of time spent on your feet, the duration of drives and flights, to the standard of remote accommodation for our more adventurous tours; they will be explained there.

MORE ABOUT YOUR HOLIDAY

Almost everything will be different from what you may be used to. We have found that our passengers who embark with a sense of humour and adventure, who accept that things do not always go to plan, are those who find their experience most rewarding. Although China is developing quickly, please note that health and safety standards overseas can differ greatly from those we enjoy at home, often of a lower standard. However, all of our suppliers meet local and national safety standards as a minimum.

A typical day's sightseeing may include the bustle and noise of a city street, sights and smells of a local market and interacting with the locals. Travelling in China requires patience and potential delays are to be expected due to different standards of service. There is a low level of English spoken throughout China, so your National Escort/Local Guides will be indispensable during your trip.

At Wendy Wu Tours we are continually working with our suppliers to maintain and improve safety standards by seeking good practice in health and safety and we will do our best to ensure that your holiday is safe and trouble free. Part of the enjoyment of travelling abroad is experiencing a different way of life and culture, but it may also mean experiencing different safety and hygiene standards than those we are used to at home. We want you to have an enjoyable holiday so we ask that you take extra care, use your common sense as well as refer to notices and follow the advice from your National Escort/Local Guides.

Our tours are operated at a comfortable, moderate or active pace and this is shown on the tour page in our brochure, on our website, and in the Tour Dossier. For more information on the more active aspects of our tours, please refer to your Tour Dossier.

Our National Escort/Local Guides always endeavour to provide the highest level of service and assistance, however they cannot be expected to cater for passengers who are not fit enough to complete the itinerary.

JOINING YOUR TOUR

Check-in information

With most airlines, you can check in online 24 hours prior to departure. Make sure you have your passport information and airline reference number handy. Your airline reference number can be found on your e-ticket receipt. You will be able to select your seats and print your boarding pass. At the airport, go to the bag-drop area of your airline to check in your luggage. Please note that some airlines will allow you to pre-book seats more than 24 hours in advance but will usually charge a fee to do this, which needs to be paid to the airline directly by phone or via their website. Please refer to your airline's website for further information. We recommend you arrive at the airport 3 hours prior to departure, even if you have checked in, to make sure you clear security in good time. If you do not have access to the internet, we again recommend that you arrive at the airport 3 hours prior to departure, where you can either use one of the available check-in desks or the selfservice kiosks before taking your luggage to the bag-drop area.

Baggage information

We recommend that you do not exceed 20kgs of checked baggage on your international flights as many of the domestic airlines within Japan have a luggage allowance of only 20kgs. As a guide, your main baggage should not exceed the following dimensions: $90\text{cm} \times 75\text{cm} \times 43\text{cm}$ (35.5ins $\times 29.5$ ins $\times 16$ ins), including the handle, pockets and wheels. Your cabin baggage should not exceed $55\text{cm} \times 40\text{cm} \times 20\text{cm}$ (22ins $\times 16$ in $\times 8$ ins)/ and have a maximum weight of 5kg. For further information please refer to your airline's website. If your tour involves a lot of train travel, we would recommend packing as lightly as possible.

Terminal information

This is shown on your e-ticket. On arrival in China, you will be met by your National Escort or Local Guide at the arrivals exit.

WHILST ON TOUR

Entrance fees are included at all paid attractions on your itinerary. However the order in which you visit each site can change depending on weather, traffic, last minute changes or any other unexpected event that may arise. If you wish to visit places that are not included in the itinerary, you may do so at your own cost. Please check in advance with your National Escort/Local Guide. After a day's sightseeing, you may sometimes be taken directly to dinner rather than heading to the hotel to shower and rest first. Whilst out sightseeing, western toilets are difficult to find in remote areas.

Queuing for major attractions

Be prepared for large numbers of other tourists, both foreign and domestic, at many of the attractions you will visit. As the incomes of the Chinese rise, so does their ability and enthusiasm for visiting their own famous sites. The highest number of visitors can be expected at the main attractions in Beijing, Xian, Shanghai, Chengdu, Lijiang, Kunming, Hangzhou and Nine Villages Valley. Your National Escort/Local Guides will queue for your entrance tickets but you may still need to wait to get into some attractions.

Festivals

China has several festival celebrations throughout the year which are public holidays. The most significant of these fall annually between 1-7 May and 1-7 October. During this time, various sites and attractions may be more crowded than usual.

TIPPING

Tipping is a firm and expected element in the tourism industry today and China is no exception. We strive to establish trust with our guides who rely on and expect tips from passengers. If the guides are keen to work with our passengers regularly, they become familiar with our itineraries as well as the Wendy Wu Tours' philosophy and expectations we have of their work.

Many passengers are often uncertain of how much to tip so we have established a tipping system whereby every passenger gives a set amount (in RMB in China, HKD in Hong Kong and USD in other destinations) to the National Escort who will distribute the amount appropriately. On multi-country tours, the tipping amount will be paid in stages on arrival in each country. All group tour passengers are expected to contribute to the tipping kitty. (If there is no National Escort, please give the money directly to your Local Guides. Customary tipping amounts will be shown in your final itinerary.)

The amount for the kitty is calculated for each tour depending on the length, group size and services used during the trip. Your final documents and invoice will specify the exact tipping amount for your group. The tipping kitty will cover local guides and drivers in each city/province, local and/or site guides and your National Escort.

For independent passengers, or group passengers with pre/post tour arrangements, you should allow USD5-10 per person per day.

Additional tipping - Yangtze Cruises

Please note that if your tour incorporates a Yangtze River Cruise, we recommend additional, discretionary tipping which may be paid to the River Guide or Cruise Director based on your satisfaction with services received.

OPTIONAL EXTRAS

A number of optional extra programmes/activities may be offered by your National Escort/Local Guide whilst on tour, time permitting. These can range from RMB100-RMB500 (approx NZD20-100) per person and involve experiences such as a rickshaw ride through the Hutong District in Beijing or a ride on the Maglev Train in Shanghai.

Please feel free to ask your National Escort/Local Guide about any optional touring they may be planning over the next few days and the approximate cost so you can ensure you have the appropriate funds. All the optional extras must be paid for in local currency. Our philosophy is that these optional extras are only offered when there is sufficient time available, and they should never compromise the standard sightseeing. It is for this reason that it is difficult to pre-plan the optional extras because they depend on the time available.

If you do not wish to take part in any optional extras, please make arrangements with your guides to enjoy some free time at leisure or to return to the hotel.

In addition, you will also need to consider additional discretionary tipping for any Local Guide/vendor/driver who is involved in such activities. Examples include the trackers along the Yangtze River on the Shennong Stream, Hutong rickshaw drivers in Beijing and entrance guides into the various other sites. Please be aware also, that it is likely that the expected tipping in these situations is a fee to undertake the optional activity plus a tip for the driver/vendor

EATING IN CHINA

The cost of all meals is included in our Classic group tours. For our Immerse Yourself Tours, Deluxe Collection tours and Private Tours, most meals are included. You can see which meals are included in our brochure, website or in the Tour Dossier. Breakfast is served in the hotel and usually includes western dishes. As is traditional in China, lunch and dinner consists of small dishes of local cuisine which is then placed on a 'Lazy Susan' so you can experience the variety of speciality dishes. In China all the dishes are served in various styles and brought out to the table for everyone to share. The amount served is more than ample for the whole group. We aim to cater to the tastes of the majority of people and so the food is not too spicy or unusual in taste.

Each individual place setting will consist of a bowl of fan (rice), a pair of chopsticks (you may request western cutlery if you prefer), a flat bottomed soup spoon and a saucer. Chinese food is usually served in courses where a typical meal will consist of rice, one to four meat or fish dishes, two vegetable dishes and one soup dish. Almost all food is cut into bite sized pieces. The centre of the meal is the fan or rice. The meats and vegetables that we think of as the focus of the meal are known as ts'ai, which roughly translates as 'side dishes'. Fish is not always available, particularly outside of the bigger cities. The Chinese are also not big on desserts and meals are normally complemented with fruit to clean and refresh the palate.

Sichuan cuisine is distinguished by its use of ginger, chilli and the 'Sichuan peppercorn' called the fagara. Each meal will usually have some mild dishes but many of the local speciality dishes will be hot. If your group finds there are not enough mild dishes served, please inform your National Escort/Local Guide so that they may resolve the problem for the next meal.

If you would like to drink beer, soft drink or bottled water with your meals, payment is to be made directly to the restaurant staff. Beer is traditionally consumed in small glasses; not the larger glasses that you may be used to. Green tea is sometimes provided complimentary. All other drinks will be at your own expense.

If you have booked a tour that does not include all meals, your local guides will be able to recommend a variety of restaurants to meet your taste and budget.

It is possible to buy snacks in supermarkets within major towns or cities. Alternatively, you may also like to bring comforts like cereal, biscuits, muesli bars and tea/coffee from home.

Any food/diet requests MUST be specified at the time of booking and you should mention it again to the National Escort/Local Guides when you meet them – they will do their utmost to cater for any special requests, such as vegetarian meals or food to be avoided in case of allergies.

People on restricted diets should expect complications in China. Some people have misconceptions about the Chinese diet. The Chinese attitude to food has been shaped by a cuisine and nutrition philosophy with a history over a thousand years and they have great pride in it. Vegetarians should remember that although vegetarian dishes are available, they may be offered meat by restaurant staff who do not understand why anyone who can afford meat would choose not to eat it. In these cases, patience and understanding will go a long way.

Please be aware that on some days where a lot of sights are covered, dinner times may be early (around 5.30pm) and your tour group may head directly to the restaurant after sightseeing.

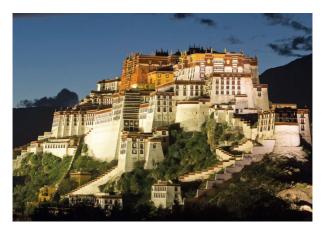

Whilst travelling away from major cities, it is highly recommended that those passengers with food intolerances take additional food items with them as not all dietary requests will be met due to the limited foods available.

TRANSPORT

We use a variety of transportation to operate your itinerary at the best pace and to give you an authentic travel experience so you are not always 'removed' from the locals.

Domestic flights

The flight schedule of domestic airlines in this region changes frequently, hence all domestic flights that appear in your itinerary are always subject to change. Please ensure that all valuables and any medication you may need for the rest of the day are taken on board with you. The luggage limit is 20kg per passenger and all seats are economy class. Airlines currently do not allow liquids (alcohol, spirits, wine, water, perfume etc) or sharp objects to be carried on-board the aircraft and these will be confiscated. Wendy Wu Tours issues all internal domestic flight tickets in China and these will be handled by your National Escort/Local Guide and given to each passenger just prior to their flight.

Coaches

Our coaches are comfortable, air-conditioned vehicles. Please note – in many parts of the world, seatbelts are not compulsory by law and local people largely choose not to wear them. Wendy Wu Tours cannot guarantee that vehicles will be fitted with operable seatbelts. Where available we recommend seat belts should be worn at all times while travelling.

Some places we travel to, e.g. parts of Sichuan Province, Yunnan, Tibet and Mongolia are quite remote. The coaches used in these areas are not the latest models but the best available in these areas.

4WD vehicles - Mongolia

Our overland tours into Mongolia will use air-conditioned 4WDs. They tend not to be latest models, but the best available. Each vehicle will hold three passengers and one staff member. They will drive in convoy and endeavour to stay within sight of each other throughout the day.

Overnight trains

All travel will be on first class 'soft sleeper' trains, which are the best available in China. Each compartment is shared by four people and is air-conditioned, with lockable doors and four beds which are fixed in place. There is room for passengers to sit on the lower berths. A pillow, clean sheets and a quilt are provided.

Your National Escort/Local Guides will try to organise the whole group to be sleeping in the same carriage but in busy periods of travel, this may not be possible. Each group will receive tickets with sequential berth numbers; these may be sharing with people from another tour group/company, or with some of the locals. We regret that it is not possible to arrange private train cabins. There is usually a western style toilet at one end and a squat toilet at the other end of the carriage. Hot drinking water is available from a boiler which is located at the end of the carriage.

Packing for the train: We recommend you bring a small overnight bag to carry whatever you need until the following morning as you will not have access to your main luggage which will be stored on a separate carriage of the train. Consider including a face towel, all toiletries, medication you require until midday the next day, a tracksuit or similar outfit to sleep in and toilet paper, as the train supply tends to run out. There is no dining car, so please carry snacks with you.

Keeping valuables safe on the train: Carry all valuables with you at all times. A passenger should remain in the compartment at all times to watch all belongings. Your main luggage must have a lock on it.

Day trains

A 2nd-class soft seat is booked for the day train journeys including bullet trains and high speed trains. There is limited space for storing luggage. While our guides are there to assist, you will need to load and unload your own luggage on and off the train. Day trains only stop for several minutes at each stop, so you must be ready to leave the train when your guide instructs.

National Park transportation

In certain National Parks, the Chinese government is attempting to protect the natural environment, animals or architecture by forbidding public vehicles access to them by using 'environmental vehicles' in places such as Heavenly Lake (Tian Chi) near Urumqi and the Nine Villages Valley. You will therefore need to leave your group coach and transfer onto these vehicles, which will be shared by other tourist groups.

Traffic

Please keep in mind that major events or holidays and new construction projects create traffic that can interfere with your tour and meal times. Your National Escort/Local Guides will do their utmost to avoid possible delays, changes or in rare cases, cancellations to sections of your itinerary.

YANGTZE RIVER CRUISE

If your tour includes a Yangtze River Cruise, please note that this section of your itinerary is always subject to change. The movement of each vessel along the Yangtze is regulated by the government's Yangtze River Authority (YRA). The river's rapid flow, the narrowness of her gorges and a recent increase in passenger numbers means that timetables are pressured.

The YRA allocates times for access to mooring points, embarkation/ disembarkation docks and passage through the gorges. This means that the captain of each cruise ship is unable to confirm a final itinerary until shortly before departure (usually 24hrs prior). This can affect both the time and location where you embark/disembark your cruise ship. Your National Escort/Local Guide will explain any such changes to you as soon as they are informed by the cruise operator.

The cruise ships themselves have comfortable, western facilities. All cabins are on a standard twin bed basis and are equipped with air conditioning, private western facilities, television and telephone. However, there are no coffee shops or swimming pools on any of our ships.

Accessibility

Steep riverbanks, which make this scenery spectacular, also make some shore excursions physically demanding. Typically a shore excursion requires all passengers to cross between ships and moving pontoons which may be moored together and climb multiple flights of stairs – sometimes without assistance or handrails. All shore excursions are alongside other passengers of the ship who may be from another tour group/company.

One of the results of the Three Gorges Dam Project and fluctuating water levels is that the docks and pontoons tend to be temporary and rather makeshift – sometimes without assistance and handrails and it is possible that you may have to disembark down a narrow, wooden gangway (e.g. in Chongqing). If you choose not to participate in a shore excursion then you are welcome to stay onboard the cruise ship and enjoy some free time, however a refund of the shore excursion fee(s) is not possible, as these costs are included in the cruise package. If you are taking one of our Private Tours, shore excursions taken whilst on your Yangtze Cruise will be operated on a shared basis, with the rest of the cruise passengers (who may not be Wendy Wu passengers).

If you do not wish to join a shore excursion but wish to leave the cruise ship, you will need to pay a mandatory port tax. The port tax amount is approx. US$20-30 per person, however this amount can vary.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION

Hotel rooms usually have private western bathroom facilities, television, air-conditioning and a telephone (unless otherwise stated). You may wish to arrange a single room or share with another passenger. Some hotels, especially those in regional areas may have hot water restrictions, operating for a few hours at a time, usually in the morning/evenings. Hotels in China are bound by Government laws which mean that air conditioning is switched on nationally in May and central heating is switched on in November. It is not customary for hotels in China to have in-room fridges, tea/coffee making facilities or a safe deposit box. Most hotel rooms do not have irons or ironing boards, but most will offer a laundry service that can launder your clothes (typically in 24hrs). Generally all beds in China have very hard mattresses. Triple rooms in China consist of a normal-sized twin room with a rollaway bed, meaning space is very limited. We would not recommend this for three adults.

Most hotels throughout China will collect your passports each time you check-in and the hotel will keep them safely for a few hours or overnight to register details. Please keep this in mind if you need to exchange money or get a credit advance at the bank. In China, check-out time is 12 midday and check-in time is 2pm. Remember that on the days when you are travelling between cities as it may result in a delay of access to your room or a change of itinerary. Hotels in this region cannot guarantee late check-out. At many hotels, the reception staff speak very little English. If you require help, please contact your tour guide.

In China and countries in Asia, you may be approached by 'ladies of the night' trying to procure business. A polite 'no thank you' and a sense of humour is the best way to handle this, but if in or near your hotel, contact reception staff or your National Escort/Local Guides.

Hotel ratings

Worldwide star ratings identify the standard of quality for hotels, however not all star rating systems are created equal. Countries throughout the world adopt various classification systems for hotels in accordance with their chain name and the type of hotel. No international classification system exists. Typically, a three-star Chinese rated hotel cannot be compared to a three-star New Zealand rated hotel. Attempts at unifying the classification system have been made so that it becomes an internationally recognised and reliable standard. However, differences do exist in the quality of accommodation which plays an integral part in defining which hotel category the specific accommodation fits into. All hotels used by Wendy Wu Tours are regularly inspected by our staff and our operators so that high standards of quality and safety are maintained.

Hotels in remote areas such as Kashgar, are occasionally forcibly re-booked by government officials and are subject to last minute change. Sections of the Xinjiang-Tibet Highway and the Yunnan-Tibet Highway are without any two or three-star accommodation.

ELECTRICITY

There is an electricity supply of 220 volts throughout China. 240-volt appliances will work safely with this supply. The plugs in China are mainly two-pin (US) plug, or the New Zealand three-pin plug. You can buy adaptors, also known as conversion plugs, from hardware, department and duty free stores, prior to departure.

In remote areas of China and Tibet, the electricity supply is uncertain. Many buildings will only have a few hours each day of electricity from either the town's supply or a diesel generator. Whenever there is limited electricity supply this will also mean limited hot water supply. Remote and village areas may experience power surges or outages, both of which can make re-charging electrical appliances very difficult.

LUGGAGE ON TOUR

All passengers are limited to two items of luggage each:

- ✓ One suitcase or backpack, with a maximum weight of 20kg. Your main luggage must have a lock on it.
- ✓ One piece of hand luggage, with a maximum weight of 5kg. It is advisable that your hand luggage consist of a 'daypack' a small bag which you can access during the day and carry items like your camera, bottled water, toilet paper, hat etc.

Luggage on 4WDs must be practical and durable. Please refer to your Tour Dossier to see if this information applies to you.

CLIMATE AND CLOTHING

We recommend that you check the weather forecast prior to your departure so that you can pack accordingly. We have included a climate chart on page 32 of this travel guide for your reference.

Winter

January and February fall in the middle and end of winter in China. In northern and eastern China, the weather is cool and dry with occasional days at freezing temperatures. The Yangtze and southern regions have milder temperatures but as it is more humid here, cold days can feel quite damp. During the winter months you will need to bring layers of warm clothes, as well as water/windproof clothing for the possible freezing conditions.

Spring

In northern and eastern China spring is traditionally marked by cool, comfortable weather with lower rainfall, while the Yangtze and southern regions still experience mild temperatures with higher humidity.

Summer

In northern and eastern China summer brings warm weather and strong sun, while the Yangtze and southern regions will experience higher levels of humidity.

Autumn

In northern and eastern China autumn brings warm weather but temperatures definitely get cooler towards the end of the year. By mid-October there are occasional days at freezing temperatures. The Yangtze and southern regions have milder temperatures for longer but can have damp, cool days. During these months you will need to bring clothing suitable for sun exposure and mild temperatures, as well as water/windproof clothing for possible freezing conditions. Loose fitting, lightweight cotton materials are the most comfortable for humid and warm conditions.

If you are travelling to the Sichuan Province: Much of the southern regions have a sub-tropical climate, while the mountains of Sichuan (such as the Nine Villages Valley or Mt. Huang) experience cooler temperatures and higher rainfall.

If you are travelling to Tibet: The Tibetan plateau experiences a greater range of temperatures than the other regions of China. No matter what time of year, or how warm the average temperature is, sudden and unpredictable drops in temperature, snow or storms can hit on the mountain passes. The sun is also much stronger at high altitude so you will get sunburnt much more quickly. See the climate chart on page 32 for guidance.

If you are travelling on the Silk Road Explorer: You will be travelling over a vast distance, from temperate areas near the east coast to high mountains and desert; you need to consider your packing carefully. Northwest China has a desert climate – with higher temperatures that drop at night-time. The hottest places are Turpan and Kashgar, which can reach 30°C during the day. Xiahe is also located at an altitude of 3,100ms, high in the mountains and can be cold and damp at any time of year. At the warmest time of year (August) temperatures can reach 20°C but can drop to 5°C in the evening. You will need some warm and waterproof/windproof clothing for the two days in Xiahe.

The dress code throughout all Wendy Wu tours is casual; however, it is important that all passengers dress respectfully when visiting temples. Smart-casual clothes are recommended for evening banquets and shows.

MONEY

The local currency in China is the Renminbi (RMB), commonly referred to as yuan. It is divided into smaller units called jiao and fen (where 1yuan = 10jiao = 100fen). One hundred yuan can be written as 100RMB or ¥100.

Payment methods in China

We recommend that you have access to more than one source of money – having access to a combination of payment methods will give the most security and flexibility while travelling.

Mobile Payment Apps - WeChat and Alipay

Every store in China, from supermarkets and convenience stores to market stalls, accepts WeChat and Alipay as a method of payment. While cash and card payments are still accepted in major shopping centres, they are becoming less common, even in remote areas where most vendors now prefer WeChat and Alipay.

WeChat and Alipay are safe and secure mobile payment apps that allow you to link your bank accounts or debit/credit cards to pay for items using a QR code on your phone. This contactless method of payment eliminates the need to withdraw or exchange cash.

Both WeChat and Alipay apps provide the same payment service, so you do not need both, however many travellers install both. WeChat is also a messaging system usable both in and out of China, connecting users who also have the app.

How to Download and Use WeChat and Alipay

- Open your smartphone's app store (App Store for iOS, Google Play for Android).
- 2. Search for "WeChat" or "Alipay."
- 3. Download and install.

WeChat

Paying with Alipay

- At the store, open Alipay and tap "Pay."
- Scan the store's QR code (blue in colour) or show your QR code for the cashier to scan.
- Enter the amount (if needed) and confirm the payment with your passcode.

General tips for using mobile payment apps

- Set up the apps and link your cards before traveling to China to avoid any app store restrictions.
- Your Guide is happy to show you how to utilise the apps in China.

- You will need an internet connection when in China to utilise the apps.
 We recommend checking with your phone provider for international data plans or purchase an E-Sim with providers such as Airalo or Holafly.
- · Check with your bank for any international transaction fees.
- Both apps also support a ride-hailing service called Didi, similar to Uber, allowing you to order a car pickup through the app and get dropped off at your designated spot. Unlike a taxi, you don't need cash to pay, and the driver already knows your destination.

Credit card/debit card

We recommend taking a debit and/or credit card which is still accepted at major shopping malls and some hotels and ATMs. The most widely accepted credit cards include Visa or MasterCard. However, please do not rely on a credit/debit card as your only source of spending money and keep a photocopy of your card(s).

Please do ensure that you notify your bank that you will be travelling abroad. Whether you use your card directly for purchases, or you link it to your WeChat/Alipay to make purchases, transactions may be blocked if your bank account is unaware, you're travelling.

Cash

In major cities like Beijing, Xi'an, and Shanghai, you'll find that cash is accepted, and most hotels, restaurants, and the shopping places/factories included in your travel itinerary also accept cash. However, in some supermarkets and most local market stalls, cash may not be accepted and payment via Alipay or WeChat may be preferred.

We recommend carrying enough cash to cover your tipping kitty and for smaller purchases such as drinks, shopping, and optional excursions which may be offered throughout your tour.

Exchanging money

We recommend exchanging money prior to departure at banks, money exchanges, or at international airports. It is possible to exchange money at your arrival airport and some banks in China and it's a good idea to have a small amount for when you arrive. Your National Escort or Local Guide will also be able to assist with exchanging money at reputable sites while on tour.

Counterfeit cash

This is a problem in China so shop owners and clerks at banks or exchange desks are very cautious and can refuse to accept notes in bad condition. When purchasing cash before you depart from home, or when exchanging cash during your holiday, it is a good idea to stand at the desk to count and check the condition of each note. Do not accept any notes which are torn, very faded, a different shade, have ink stamps or any writing on them. If you accept the notes and sign the exchange receipt, then later notice a problem, you will not be able to exchange them back.

ATMs

Unless you are in a major city, many ATMs only work with the Chinese Banking system. ATMs can be a good source of travel money, especially in major cities, but we strongly recommend that you do not rely on this method – although there appear to be many ATMs available in China, they often run out of cash, have different minimum withdrawal amounts, may not be in English and reject foreign cards. If you do need to use an ATM, we recommend you use the Bank of China machines as they are found in every major city. It is recommended that you visit the ATMs during the open hours of the associated Bank of China branch so that you can go to their staff if anything goes wrong. Try to withdraw as few times as possible because overseas withdrawal fees can be very high.

We strongly suggest you alert your bank of your travel plans and check their foreign transaction fees or ATM withdrawal limits.

Spending money

On a two-week Classic Tour, we would recommend approximately NZD350.00 per person spending money, although this depends greatly on your individual needs and shopping preferences. We recommend carrying enough cash to cover your tipping kitty and for smaller purchases such as drinks, shopping, and optional excursions which may be offered throughout your tour.

For Go Beyond Tours, Short Stay/Extensions and your own independent arrangements before or after your tour, you will need to budget for additional meals, drinks, transportation, optional excursions, extra tipping, and anything not included in your tour price.

The price of a meal or drink will vary from city to city, and depending on where you choose to eat, with the cost of meals and drinks in major cities generally more expensive than rural areas. As a guide on price, you can expect to pay:

Common Snacks

- Street food snacks (such as dumplings or baozi): ¥10-¥20
- Skewers (such as lamb skewers or grilled vegetables): ¥5-¥10 per

Drinks

- Bottle of water (500ml): ¥12-¥15
- Soft drink or soda (can or bottle): ¥12-¥15
- Local beer (500ml bottle): ¥20-¥35

Meals

- Noodle or rice dishes (such as fried noodles or steamed rice with meat/ vegetables): ¥20-¥40
- Fast food meal (at popular chains like McDonald's or KFC): ¥20-¥40
- Mid-range local restaurant: ¥80-¥150 per person
- Fine dining or upscale restaurant: \\ \pm200-\text{\text{\text{4}}}\) per person

Plan ahead

Once you have started your tour, you will quickly get a sense of how often or how much you need to exchange money. Try not to leave this to the last minute: exchange desks can close; ATMs can run out of cash and your group could be scheduled to leave your hotel at 7am tomorrow morning!

SHOPPING

Shopping can be a fun and entertaining component to any travel adventure, and China has a vast array of shopping opportunities for those who love to seek out a bargain. From hand carved jade to local silk products or pearls from the South China Sea – the variety and choice can seem endless.

In keeping with most people's interests whilst on holiday, your tour will include a reasonable number of opportunities to shop for local goods and souvenirs. We have included visits to establishments that not only provide an opportunity to purchase a locally produced, great-value souvenir; but you'll witness first-hand how these local products are made, their history and how they support the local economy. We are aware that people like to take home souvenirs, so we endeavour to ensure the shops you visit have a reputation for quality, honesty and authenticity – we do our best to ensure that you don't get ripped off. Most establishments will also feature a place where you can buy refreshments and take a break.

Wendy Wu Tours, our staff, National Escorts and Local Guides are not qualified nor permitted to guarantee the quality or value of any goods purchased during your holiday. All passengers who make purchases during their holiday must accept responsibility for their decision regarding the item's value and authenticity, as well as the risk and process of credit card purchase and/or shipping.

Please note, although some large items may include international shipping with the cost, any customs, handling, import & GST charges may be passed on to you once the item has reached you at home. It is your responsibility to ensure that these costs are covered. Furthermore, delivery to your home from the shipping port may not be included.

It is recommended that you double check any items purchased before leaving the store (the item and any credit card receipts) and if you are having a large item shipped, make sure you take a photo of your purchase and the contact details of the store.

We encourage all passengers to enjoy their local shopping expeditions but to take care and buy wisely.

We cannot assist in returning or refunding goods in any circumstances, including purchases made at shops or factories which you may visit as part of your tour with us.

Haggling or bargaining

In local shops, markets and street stalls all over China, haggling is the accepted way to agree on a selling price. It can be a great way to save money, as well as a wonderful way to interact with some local people you may not otherwise meet. However, some foreign visitors find it too confronting and prefer to shop in tourist shops or department stores, where prices are set.

CUSTOMS AND DUTY FREE

Cultural relics, handicrafts, gold and silver ornaments and any jewellery purchased in China must be declared at exit. All luggage is x-rayed and if any of the above is not declared, customs agents may seize them. You must also declare all food items on exit if carrying them in your luggage.

We recommend that passengers consult the www.customs.govt.nz website before departure for up-to-date information on the quantity of alcohol/cigarettes that can be imported when you arrive home, as well as the amount of cash that may be carried without declaration.

KEEPING IN TOUCH

Calling home to New Zealand

To call New Zealand, the international access code is 00, followed by the country code 64, then the local area code (omitting the first 0), then the number. To call Wendy Wu Tours, the number is 00 64 9 975 8117 The Emergency 24-hour telephone (out of office hours) is 00 44 1888 288 288.

All hotels in China will have phones where you can make calls back home, however please be aware that the cost of these calls may be expensive and rates will vary between hotels.

Phone cards can be used in most public pay phones, but if you plan to use any sort of phone card (bought at home or in China) to call from your room – always check the costs and procedure with hotel reception beforehand. If the hotel does enforce a call charge, you will be unable to refute it after making your call.

It is possible to use mobile phone applications such as Skype and WhatsApp through an internet connection to contact friends and family back home free of charge (see Internet Access section below).

Mobile phones

Mobile phones are popular in China and you will find high quality coverage. China has active roaming agreements with all phone carriers; however SMS and call rates can be expensive. We recommend that you contact your mobile supplier if you intend to use international roaming during your holiday and ensure you investigate all associated costs before you leave home.

Postage

We recommend that you use the Post Offices, rather than your hotel to post items, as these are often more expensive and unreliable. From capital cities or major towns, airmail letters and postcards take 5-10 working days to arrive and from smaller towns, they will take over a month. We advise you to use a courier service from Post Offices to send anything valuable or important.

Internet and email

Free Wi-Fi connections are available in most hotels in main cities and tourist destinations. Note some hotels will only provide free Wi-Fi in the hotel lobby, and internet access in your hotel room may come at an additional cost. Wi-Fi is available on your Yangtze Cruise ship at an additional cost.

In remote areas, you will rarely be able to access phone or internet facilities and mobile phones are not likely to have reception. We advise that you let friends and family at home know that you will be out of phone contact during these sections of your itinerary.

INTERNET ACCESS WHILST IN CHINA

As you may know, accessing social media, email and WhatsApp in China can be difficult. We want to ensure you're fully connected whilst in China so you can not only stay in touch with those at home, but also enjoy access to your Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, Tik Tok, and anywhere else you want to showcase your adventure.

How to access WhatsApp, social media and email in China

We recommend purchasing an international e-SIM which can be downloaded onto your mobile phone from a provider such as HolaFly (https://esim. holafly.com/).

What does the e-SIM do?

- · Provides unlimited data for your trip to China
- Includes a built-in VPN for unrestricted browsing (without a VPN you won't be able to access sites like Facebook or WhatsApp as these are blocked in China, even if you have internet access)
- · Allows you to use WhatsApp via your usual phone number
- · Means you won't have to search for or join public Wi-Fi networks
- · You won't have to pay additional roaming charges

Note: you must have a compatible smartphone to use an e-SIM. You can check if your phone is compatible on the HolaFly website. Most iPhones, Samsungs and Google Pixel phones are compatible, but you must check before purchasing.

How does the e-SIM work?

- Once purchased, you will immediately receive a QR code via email along with set up instructions
- · Scan the QR code with your phone camera to access your e-SIM
- · We recommend accessing your e-SIM prior to arrival in China to ensure

- everything is working correctly
- · Activate your e-SIM and switch your data roaming on once in China

How do I purchase an e-SIM?

- Go to https://esim.holafly.com/
- . Type 'China' into the destination search bar
- . Enter the number of days of the trip, and number of e-SIMs you require
- · Complete payment online

Other websites to purchase an e-SIM for China are:

- ByteSIM https://bytesim.com/
- Airalo https://www.airalo.com/china-esim

TIME DIFFERENCE

China's timezone is +8GMT meaning they are 4 hours behind New Zealand (5 hours during Daylight Saving).

In Xinjiang Province (north west China), although the time zone officially remains the same as Beijing, people and businesses run on an unofficial time that is two hours behind. Shops and banks open from 10am to 7pm and you might find yourself eating dinner at the official time of 9pm.

INSURANCE

It is a condition of booking a holiday with us that all travellers take out comprehensive travel insurance. Please ensure you have the appropriate cover for your holiday as overseas medical costs are expensive. It is a good idea to check all your policy's inclusions and conditions in full – including overseas medical expenses. It is essential that you inform your insurance company of all pre-existing conditions. Any undeclared conditions could invalidate your policy. Please inform our office of your relevant policy number and keep details of the policy in your travel documents including policy number, 24-hour emergency number and next of kin details.

If you are taking out travel insurance with your credit card company, you need to investigate the policy's inclusions and conditions fully. You should receive a policy number, an international access phone number to contact them in an emergency, and a copy of full conditions.

All travel insurance providers require you to contact them as soon as possible in the event that you need medical treatment, hospitalisation or change travel plans, to inform them of your situation. They will then decide the best course of action in regards to further treatment and/or repatriation and make appropriate booking arrangements. Our staff in China will be able to assist you in contacting your travel insurance company.

SAFETY AND SECURITY

All travellers should maintain a high level of personal security. Although China is considered safe for travellers, please keep in mind that cash or wallets in pockets, obvious jewellery, swinging handbags, etc may attract unwanted attention. Keep your belongings with you at all times and beware of pickpockets in market areas and at train stations.

Do not leave any valuables unattended in your hotel room. Lock away cash you do not need during the day/evening, credit cards, airline tickets, passports, jewellery, etc either in your room's safe or at reception; as not all hotels will have an in-room safe deposit box.

Wearing a money belt under your clothing is strongly recommended. We advise you not to bring valuable jewellery, etc with you to China and keep a photocopy of your passport and debit/credit card(s).

Swapping scam

As in any country, it pays to be vigilant. One example of a common 'swapping scam' is if someone hands over a ¥100 note to pay for a cheap souvenir (e.g. postcards), they will be given back a note that says '50'. However this might turn out to be 50 sum from Kazakhstan, which is worth a fraction of what you were owed. We suggest you familiarise yourself with the Renminbi Chinese vuan notes.

TRAVEL ADVICE

Before departure, we recommend that you check www.safetravel.govt.nz for up-to-date travel information and advice from the NZ Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade for China.

TRAVEL HEALTH

A health certificate is not required for entry into China.

Visit a doctor before travelling

We strongly recommend that you see a doctor for the latest health advice at least six weeks before your holiday to allow time for any necessary vaccinations etc. Remember to take your itinerary with you to the appointment. For detailed travel health advice, please check www.safetravel.govt.nz/before-you-go/general-advice/health before departure.

Drinking water

We strongly recommend you do not drink the tap water, and avoid ice in your drinks. There will usually be a kettle or flasks of boiled water in your hotel room and onboard trains. Boiled water is suitable for drinking and cleaning teeth. Safe, bottled drinking water is readily available for sale everywhere – from small shops, supermarkets, restaurants and hotels. It is not customary for hotels to provide complimentary bottled drinking water. Always ensure that the seal is unbroken.

Toilets

Toilet facilities are very basic throughout Asia and it is rare that you will find a 'western' style toilet (except in hotels). 'Squat' toilets are very common in public places and toilet paper is never supplied. We suggest that you carry toilet paper in your day backpack as well as not turn down the opportunity to use a 'nice' toilet when you see one!

Altitude

Some of our tours reach areas of high altitude. Your Tour Dossier will list altitudes reached each day where necessary. Please refer to this information to satisfy yourself that you are physically able to undertake your chosen itinerary.

AMS (Acute Mountain Sickness) occurs in some people of varying ages and fitness levels when they travel to altitudes over 3,000m. Symptoms include dizziness, fatigue, nausea or loss of appetite, breathlessness or headache. These usually develop over the first 36 hours at altitude and not immediately on arrival. Usually the symptoms will subside after a day, however; if symptoms worsen you should seek medical advice and descend in altitude immediately. It is recommended to drink more water, non-alcoholic and non-caffeinated drinks and avoid exertion after arriving over 3,000m. Our itineraries ensure you will stay overnight at least 100m below the maximum altitude reached during that day.

PERSONAL MEDICAL KIT

Take all pharmaceutical products that you may require on your tour; do not rely on being able to purchase these during your holiday. You will see pharmacies all over China, but they stock local traditional medicine and many unregulated brands of western medicine. You are also very unlikely to find anyone who can speak English, nor any products with English writing. Consider taking a 'personal medical kit' containing any medication or medical equipment you may need during your time in China:

- ✓ All prescribed medication (with a cover note from your doctor)/ copy of repeat prescription
- ✓ Headache tablets
- ✓ Anti-diarrhoea tablets
- ✓ Cold and flu tablets
- ✓ Travel sickness tablets
- ✓ Lozenges
- ✓ Insect repellent and bite/sting relief
- ✓ Sunscreen
- ✓ Antibacterial hand wipes and/or hand wash
- ✓ Spare pair of glasses/contact lenses

If you need to purchase any pharmaceuticals or medical equipment while in China – you may ask your National Escort, Local Guide or hotel staff to help you locate a pharmacy, identify medication or to translate from the local language to English. If you need medical attention they will be able to arrange a call from a doctor, usually one who speaks English. However, the decision to purchase or take any non-prescribed (either western or traditional local medicine) is entirely your own.

Please note: the staff at Wendy Wu Tours in New Zealand and our representatives in China are not medically qualified and are neither able, nor allowed, to give any medical advice, recommendations or administer medications.

TRAVEL WITH CONSIDERATION

Wendy Wu Tours takes Responsible Tourism seriously. We are aware that tourism can impact the natural, economic and social environment and are committed to addressing these wherever possible without compromising our customers' experience.

Taking photos

"Tourists stick their cameras in our faces and promise they'll send photos back, but they never do." We encourage you to think about how you would like to be treated by camera-wielding tourists – always check that it is ok before taking a photograph of a local person. Simply indicate to your camera to ask and never take the photograph if someone gestures or says that they do not want you to.

Observe local rules and customs

The laws, regulations and behaviour in China are affected by their different culture. For example:

- ✓ Cameras are not allowed in some sightseeing spots, particularly temples.
- ✓ Do not raise your voice as this can cause offense.
- ✓ Always leave your shoes outside a temple or anyone's home.

Dress appropriately

The Chinese dress conservatively in more rural areas. Full length cotton trousers or shorts that cover the knees are acceptable and for women, skirts or trousers that reach below the knee are ideal, worn with tops that cover the shoulders.

In certain areas in China, the majority of the population is Muslim. Female passengers are advised to wear modest clothes that cover knees and shoulders. A 'modesty shawl' – either a large shawl or sarong – can be useful to carry in your daypack while sightseeing, to cover up in these places. Your guide will be able to advise you where and when this may be appropriate.

GUIDE TO PRACTICAL CHINESE

It is believed that Chinese writing originated almost four thousand years ago and that the spoken language goes back many thousands of years before that, thus Chinese is one of the world's oldest languages and even today one of the most widely used living languages.

Chinese belongs to the Sino-Tibetan family of languages. The standard Chinese language, spoken by almost 95% of the population of China is 'Hanyu', literally 'language of the Han'. Standard Chinese is also known as 'Putonghua', its official designation. We know it as "Mandarin".

'Putonghua' is based on the northern dialect, using the dialect of Beijing as the basis for its pronunciation. Learning to speak a small amount of this fascinating language when you are travelling in China will not only be enjoyable and fun for you, but also shows the Chinese people your respect for their local culture and they will warm to you for your efforts.

We have tried in this phrase book to stick to the words and phrases that you will most commonly want to use, but with the help of the few verbs we have included here, you could expand your vocabulary and speaking ability much further. We have added space at the back of this book for you to add your own additional words. Ask your National Escort or Local Guide for a word and then write it down in this book and you are set to go.

For each word or phrase we have given the English followed by the Anglicised Chinese equivalent or 'Pinyin', then a phonetic version that should make it easier for you to pronounce.

First though you need to know about the four tones as follows:

    a flat inflection
    v a down and up inflection downward inflection
    a downward inflection
```

In the Chinese language the four tones change the meaning of a word. Here are some examples of how the tone can make a huge difference.

shuĭ = watershuì = to sleepxīn = heartxìn = letterèr = twoér = son
```

Something else to help you is the pronunciation of the 'initials' and 'finals', try these pronunciation exercises:

GETTING STARTED

All phrases throughout this booklet are set out in the following order;

ENGLISH Hello or Hi PINYIN nĭ hǎo PHONETIC knee how

The first thing to know are the various forms of greeting:

Hello or Hi

nĭ hăo knee how

How are you?

nĭ hǎo ma? knee how mar

If you are asked the question "How are you?" then the answer is:

I am very good

wŏ hĕn hǎo war hun how

If you ask the question first and ask "How are you?" the response will probably be:

I am very good, and you?

wŏ hĕn hǎo, nǐ ne? war hun how, knee ner

To which the final response will be:

I am also very good

yĕ hĕn hăo ver hun how

So the full conversation will be:

(you) knee how mar?

(them) war hun how, knee ner?

(you) yer hun how

Practice this with your partner or a friend.

Here are the words you have learnt:

You Good; well; fine

nĭ hǎo knee how

add to the end of a word or phrase to pose a question:

PINYIN ma PHONETIC mar

I; me Very wŏ hĕn war hun

forms an elliptical question:

PINYIN ne PHONETIC ner

Too; also

yĕ yer

Here are some more greeting words that you can easily use:

Pleased to meet you

rènshi nĭ hĕn gaoxìng earn she knee hun gow shing

Good morning

zăoshàng hăo sow shung how

Goodbye

zàijiàn sigh shun

Good evening

wänshàng hǎo one shung how

You (formal)

nín neen 'nín' is the polite form of 'ní', commonly used to refer to an elderly or senior person during a conversation or to a person of a similar generation when speaking on a formal occasion. It is also a good form to use just to show good manners and respect.

Now you have learnt how to greet someone you may like to learn something about them, their name, where they are from or what they do for a living.

The following words and phrases should help you with that.

May I ask your name?

qĭngwèn, nín guìxìng ching when nin gwee shing

The above form of asking someones name is quite formal and would be answered thus:

My family name is Brown, given name John wŏ xìng Brown, jiào John war shing Brown, jow John

A less formal and easier way of asking a name is thus:

What's your name?

nĭ jiào shénme míngzi nee jow shenmer minzar

Where are you from? What is your country? nĭ shì nă guó rén knee sher nar gorun

If you are asked this question your answer would be:

Lam wö shì war sher

Australian

Àodàlìyà rén owdarleeyar run

British

Yīnggúo rén eeingor run

New Zealander

Xīnxīlán rén shinshilun run

South African

Nánfēi rén nunfay run Irish

Àiĕrlán rén iairlan run

Scottish

Sügēlăn rén sir ger larn run

Welsh

Wēi'ěrshì rén way er sher run

Chinese

Zhōngguó rén dzonggur run

What do you do? What is your work?

nĭ shì nă gongzuò? knee sher na gondzer

You have learnt a very important word in this last exercise and that is the verb "to be".

Actually, in the Chinese language, unlike in English, there is only one word for all the parts of the verb "to be" and that is:

To be

shì sher

Thus:

Lam

wŏ shì war sher

You are

nĭ shì knee sher

He is

tā shì

ta sher

She is tā shì

ta sher

They are

tāmen shì tar mun sher

We are

wŏmen shì war mun sher

The Chinese word shì is the equivalent of the English verb "to be" and describes a person.

This should not be confused with another very useful Chinese word zai which is "to be in a location" and can be used to express the English equivalent of; here, there, in, on, at.

Let us review some more new words you have learnt:

May I ask? To be qĭngwèn shì ching when sher

You/your (formal) He nín tā neen ta

Name (informal) They míngzi tāmen
mun zer tar mun

Asking the whereabouts of something or someone:

Where is the toilet?

Where is John?

gĭngwèn John zài nă? ching wen, John sigh nar

Where is the dining room?

qĭngwèn cāntīng zài nă? ching wen, tan ching sigh nar

Where is the market?

qĭngwèn shāngchăng zài nă? ching wen, sun shung sigh nar

When asking a question of someone, always start with the Chinese word qingwèn which means literally "may I ask?"

You can see from this that with just these few small words you should be able to find directions to most places and things.
